

Arthur Tucker

Arthur Tucker is software and systems engineer in the Ground Applications Group at JHU/APL. Arthur has designed, developed, and managed enterprise software systems for over 18 years. Arthur received a Master of Science in computer science from the Johns Hopkins University and a Bachelor of Science in Engineering in electrical engineering and computer science from Duke University.

Dawn van der Gracht

Dawn van der Gracht is a software engineer in the Ground Applications Group at JHU/APL. Dawn has developed software in support of APL Space Exploration Sector missions as well as collaborated on exploring technological advancements in ground systems. Dawn received a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science from Elon University.